A devout atheist for 50 years describes how when he took an objective look at the question of God realized the errors of his thinking and became a Christian. Wanting to know more of God, he began researching four questions: Was God real? What was the nature of God? What does God expect from us? What can we expect from God? The approach is that of a research engineer using logic on information from numerous fields including: archeology, history, biology, genetics, evolution, astronomy, science and the Christian Bible. The presentation is non-technical. God left evidence when He interceded in the evolution of the universe. Examination of this evidence provides the basis for the conclusions reached in the book. The philosophy was to follow the evidence, no matter where it led. Much of the approach is out-of-the-box thinking and different from most other books about God. Yet, with this unorthodox approach, the final result is close to that of fundamental Christianity.

As a scholar, I exactly feel bored to be able to read. If their teacher inquired them to go to the library as well as to make a summary for some book, they are complained. Just minor students that have reading's heart and soul or real their passion. They just do what the instructor wants, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading very seriously. Any student feels that reading is not important, boring in addition to can't see colorful photos on there.
