The DAWNLAND series is complete with the release of HELLA KILLS and HELLA RISES

Meet Hella Paige. She kills zombies. Well, technically her virus kills zombies, the one that she contracted after being bitten by her undead neighbor. The virus is invaluable, killing everything undead that comes within a thousand feet of where she stands. But it is also destructive, unless Hella can escape the truth, she might be doomed to a terrible fate.

All Hella wanted to do was graduate from college, but she is thrust into a world she never imagined, one filled with moments of sheer terror and the idea that humanity can be saved by a few. She brings together a tribe of survivors, keeping her virus a secret; instead claiming the village they live in is protected by a mysterious zombie-killing aura. Hella has to sacrifice so much for the people she grows to love, for she can't leave the village without risking their death.

When Hella meets Huck, he captures her heart, but it is his friend Zeke that can help her save humankind. Two heroic men, one she hates and one she loves. Can Hella rise above the chaos of her heart and chose the one to benefit the world? The right choice might mean the difference between surviving and survival of the species.

Praise for the Dawnland Series:

“The zombie apocalypse isn't an original plot, a zombie apocalypse where the heroine is not only immune to the zombie virus but can destroy them with her mere presence is a different thing entirely.”

-Eduardo

“Hella a bit headstrong, can hold her own in a fight, and is just all together a bad ass. However... she's not afraid to be human and make connections with the people she meets.” – Anna Johnson

“Hella is coming into her own, both as a freak and as a killer.” – Genesis

“Hella Paige is one AWESOMELY funny yet odd (in a good way) Zombie killer, once bitten she thinks she already dead but instead she becomes a zombie exterminator!” – Valerie Burwen

“I love the Walking Dead and I have read other zombie books before but this one really did have a fresh take on it!”

– Erica
