Poor Giles is a monster who just wants to go to sleep. But he has a boy under his bed. When the boy crawls out Giles cries, "Mother, Father, save me from my doom! There's a boy in my room." His parents have had enough! They tell him there are no such things as boys.

What can Giles possibly do to make the boy under his bed go away?

Kids will see their fears in a brand-new light after reading about Giles and his adventures with the boy under the bed. A sure-fire book to let children know that when things go bump in the night it's only because they've gotten lost and need some help finding their way home. Created by the talented duo of Preston McClear and Nicholas Dollak, this role-reversal story is the perfect gift for any child whose ever been afraid of the dark, and for fans of humorous children's books such as There's a Nightmare In My Closet by Mercer Mayer and Where the Wild Things Are by Maurice Sendak.
